PREFACE

Bernan Press is proud to present the sixth edition of Employment, Hours, and Earnings: States and Areas, 2011. This reference is a special edition of Bernan Press's Handbook of U.S. Labor Statistics: Employment, Earnings, Prices, Productivity, and Other Labor Data. It brings together a wealth of employment data compiled by the Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS) and includes new data not presented in the previous editions.

Features of this publication include:

- Nearly 300 tables with data on employment for each state, the District of Columbia, and the nation's 75 largest metropolitan statistical areas (MSAs)
- Detailed industry data organized by month and on a non-seasonally adjusted basis
- Hours and earnings data are provided, where available, by industry for each state
- An introduction page for each state and the District of Columbia that emphasizes salient data and noteworthy trends, including data from the Local Area Unemployment Statistics (LAUS) program as well as an updated figure detailing employment by industry
- A ranking of the largest 75 MSAs that includes 2010 population estimates, 2010 unemployment rates, and the percent change in total nonfarm employment from 2000 to 2010.
- Concise technical notes that explain pertinent facts about the data, including sources, definitions, and significant changes; this section also provides references for further guidance on the subject
- An appendix that details the geographical components of the MSAs

The employment, hours, and earnings data in this publication provide a detailed and timely picture of the 50 states, the District of Columbia, and the nation's 75 largest MSAs. They can be used to analyze key factors affecting state and local economies and to compare national cyclical trends to local-level economic activity.

This reference is an excellent source of information for analysts in both the public and private sectors. Readers who are involved in public policy can use the data to determine the health of the economy, to clearly identify which sectors are growing and which are declining, and to determine the need for federal assistance. State and local jurisdictions can use the data to determine the need for services, including training and unemployment assistance, and for planning and budgetary purposes. In addition, the data can be used to forecast tax revenue. In private industry, the data can be used by business owners to compare their business to the economy as a whole. In particular, the data can be used to identify suitable locations when making decisions about plant locations and wholesale and retail trade outlets and for locating a particular sector base.

TECHNICAL NOTES

OVERVIEW

The sixth edition of Employment, Hours, and Earnings: States and Areas presents monthly and annual average data on employment for each state, the District of Columbia, and the nation's 75 largest metropolitan statistical areas (MSAs). In addition, hours and earnings data are provided, where available, for each state. The industry data are based on the North American Industry Classification System (NAICS), which is discussed in greater detail later in these notes. The employment data are presented on a monthly and annual basis for 1990 and 2000 through 2010. The hours and earnings data are available from 2007 through 2010.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS), the statistical agency within the U.S. Department of Labor, conducts the Current Employment Statistics (CES) survey to provide industry data on the employment, hours, and earnings of workers on nonfarm payrolls. The unemployment data and the civilian labor force estimates in this publication were obtained from the Local Area Unemployment Statistics (LAUS) program, which provides monthly employment and unemployment data for approximately 7,300 geographic areas including Census regions and divisons, states, counties, metropolitan areas, and many cities.

The data from both the CES and LAUS data are derived from federal-state cooperative collection efforts in which state employment security agencies prepare data using concepts, definitions, and technical procedures prescribed by the BLS. Although the estimation of the two data sets are based on differing methodologies (described in more detail later in this section), their inclusion together in this reference is intended to provide a broad overview of state and local labor market conditions.

THE CURRENT EMPLOYMENT STATISTICS (CES) SURVEY–EMPLOYMENT, HOURS, AND EARNINGS DATA

The CES survey is a monthly survey commonly referred to as the establishment or payroll survey. Its estimates are derived from a sample of about 150,000 private nonfarm businesses and federal, state, and local government entities, which cover approximately 390,000 individual worksites in all 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, the U.S. Virgin Islands, and more than 300 metropolitan areas and divisions. These establishments are classified on the basis of their primary activity by major industry groupings in accordance with NAICS. For an establishment engaging in more than one activity, the entire establishment is included under the industry indicated as the principal activity.

All establishments with 1,000 employees or more are asked to participate in the survey, along with a representative sample of smaller businesses. Every month, the BLS Regional Data Collection Centers gather the data. Each firm is initially enrolled by telephone and the data is then collected for several months by a process called Computer Assisted Telephone Interviewing (CATI). Whenever possible, respondents are transferred to a self-reporting mode such as Touchtone Data Entry (TDE), fax, or Internet collection. Gathering data via the Internet is one of the fastest growing forms of data collection, but still remains a relatively small percentage of the total data collected each month. Electronic Data Interchange (EDI), in which each firm provides the BLS with an electronic file in a prescribed format, remains the most popular method for collecting data.

State estimation procedures are designed to produce accurate data for each individual state. The BLS independently develops the national series and does not force state estimates to sum to the national total. Because each state series is subject to larger sampling and nonsampling errors than the national series, summing them cumulates individual state level errors and can cause significant distortions at an aggregate level. As a result of these statistical limitations, the BLS does not compile a "sum of states" employment series, and cautions users that doing so may result in a series with a relatively large and volatile error structure.

More information on the exact methodology used to obtain data for employment, hours, and earnings was originally detailed in the BLS Handbook of Methods. The Handbook was updated in 2003 and can be found online at <http://www.bls.gov/opub/hom>. Information on the CES survey can also be found on the BLS Web site at <http://www.bls.gov/sae>.

CONCEPTS

Employment is the total number of persons employed either full or part-time in nonfarm business establishments during a specific payroll period. Temporary employees are included. Unpaid family members working in a family-owned business, domestic workers in private homes, and self-employed persons are all excluded from the CES. In addition, employees on layoff, on leave without pay, on strike for the entire pay period, or who had been hired but did not start work during the pay period are also excluded.

The reference period includes all persons who worked during, or received pay, for any part of the pay period that includes the 12th of the month, a standard for all federal agencies collecting employment data from business establishments. Workers who are on paid sick leave (when pay is received directly from the employer) or paid holiday or vacation, or who worked during only part of the specified pay period (because of unemployment or strike during the rest of the pay period) are counted as employed by the establishment survey. Employees on the payroll of more than one establishment during the pay period are counted in each establishment that reports them, whether the duplication is due to turnover or dual jobholding.

CES government employment statistics refer only to civilian government employees. Employees of the Central Intelligence Agency, the National Security Agency, the National Imagery and Mapping Agency, and the Defense Intelligence Agency are excluded.

Nonfarm employment includes employment in all goods-producing and service-providing industries. The goods-producing sector includes mining and logging, construction, and manufacturing, the last of which is made up of durable and non-durable goods (these breakdowns are not provided in this publication). The service-providing sector includes both private service-providing and government employment. Private service sector employment includes trade, transportation, and utilities (which is comprised of wholesale trade, retail trade, and transportation and utilities); information; financial activities; professional and business services; educational and health services; leisure and hospitality; and other services. Government employment encompasses federal-, state-, and local-level civilian employees. Subcategories of these industries are available on the BLS Web site at <http://www.bls.gov/sae>.

Unemployment consists of those who were not employed during the reference week but were available for work, except for temporary illness, and had made specific efforts to find employment some time during the 4-week period ending with the reference week. Persons who were waiting to be recalled to a job from which they had been laid off are classified as unemployed even if they have not been looking for another job.

The unemployment rate is the number of unemployed persons as a percent of the civilian labor force.

The civilian labor force consists of all persons classified as employed or unemployed as described above.

Hours and earnings data for each state are based on reports from industry payrolls and the corresponding hours paid for construction workers, production workers, and nonsupervisory workers. It includes workers who received pay for any part of the pay period that includes the 12th day of the month. Since not all sample respondents report production worker hours and earnings data, insufficient sample sizes preclude hours and earnings data from many sectors in many states. Therefore, the data available and thus published vary from state to state.

The payroll for these workers is reported before deductions of any kind including Social Security, unemployment insurance, group health insurance, withholding taxes, retirement plans, or union dues.

Included in the payroll report of earnings is pay for all hours worked, including overtime, shift premiums, vacations, holiday, and sick-leave pay. Bonuses and commissions are excluded unless they are earned and paid regularly each pay period. Benefits, such as health insurance and contribution to a retirement fund, are also excluded.

Hours include all hours worked (including overtime hours) and hours paid for holidays, vacations, and sick leave during the pay period that includes the 12th of the month. Average weekly hours differs from the concept of scheduled hours worked due to factors such as unpaid absenteeism, labor turnover, part-time work, and strikes, as well as fluctuations in work schedules. Average weekly hours are typically lower than scheduled hours of work.

Average hourly earnings are derived by dividing gross payrolls by total hours, reflecting the actual earnings of workers (including premium pay). They differ from wage rates, which are the amounts stipulated for a given unit of work or time. Average hourly earnings do not represent total labor costs per hour because they exclude retroactive payments and irregular bonuses, employee benefits, and the employer's share of payroll taxes. Earnings for employees not included in the production worker or nonsupervisory categories are not reflected in the estimates in this publication.

Average weekly earnings are derived by multiplying average weekly hours by average hourly earnings.

Users should note that in the context of historical data, long-term trends in hours and earnings data also reflect structural changes, such as the changing mixes of full-time and part-time employees and highly paid and lower-wage workers within businesses and across industries.

METROPOLITAN STATISTICAL AREAS (MSAs) AND NEW ENGLAND CITY AND TOWN AREAS (NECTAs)

A metropolitan statistical area (MSA) is a core area with a large population nucleus, combined with adjacent communities that have high degrees of economic and social integration with the core area. The standard definition of a MSA is determined by the Office of Management and Budget (OMB), which updates the definition based on the decennial census and updated information provided by the Census Bureau between the censuses.

New England city and town areas (NECTAs) are similar to MSAs, but are defined using cities and towns instead of counties in the six New England states. BLS only provides employment data on NECTAs in the New England region. Employment and Unemployment data are provided for the following NECTAs in this publication: Boston-Cambridge-Quincy, MA; Bridgeport-Stamford-Norwalk-CT; Hartford-West Hartford-East Hartford, CT; New Haven, CT; and Providence-Fall River-Warwick, RI. All other areas are MSAs.

The appendix that follows the tables details the geographic components for each MSA and NECTA.

REVISIONS TO THE DATA

North American Industry Classification System (NAICS)

The most far-reaching revision of the CES data occurred when the industrial classification system was changed from the 60-year-old Standard Industrial Classification (SIC) system to the North American Industry Classification System (NAICS) in January 2003. This changed how establishments were classified into industries in order to more accurately reflect the current composition of U.S. businesses. In March 2008, the CES state and area nonfarm payroll series was converted to the 2007 NAICS series. This resulted in relatively minor changes. NAICS was adopted as the standard measure of industry classification by statistical agencies in the United States, Canada, and Mexico in order to enhance the comparability of economic data across the North American Free Trade Association (NAFTA) trade area. These revisions were so profound as to preclude comparison between the present NAICS and the old SIC. BLS has thus not updated the SIC data nor (for the most part) linked the historical SIC data with the current NAICS data.

Benchmark Revisions

Employment estimates are adjusted annually to a complete count of jobs—called benchmarks—which are primarily derived from tax reports submitted by employers covered by state unemployment laws (which cover most establishments). In this re-anchoring of sample-based employment estimates to full population counts, the original sample-based estimates are replaced with the benchmark data from the previous year. The benchmark information is used to adjust monthly estimates between the new benchmark and the preceding benchmark, thereby preserving the continuity of the series and establishing the level of employment for the new benchmark month.

Seasonal Adjustment

Over the course of a year, the size of a state's employment level undergoes sharp fluctuations because of changes in the weather, reduced or expanded production, harvests, major holidays, and the like. Because these seasonal events follow a more or less regular pattern each year, adjusting the data on a month-to-month basis may eliminate their influence on data trends. These adjustments make it easier for users to observe the cyclical and other nonseasonal movements in the data series, but it must be noted that the seasonally adjusted series are only an approximation based on past experience. The seasonally adjusted data have a broader margin of error than the unadjusted data because they are subject to both sampling and other errors in the seasonal adjustment process. The data presented in this publication are not seasonally adjusted; therefore, the month-to-month variations in the data contain seasonal variations that may distort month-to-month comparisons. Data for the MSAs are also not seasonally adjusted, as the sample sizes do not allow for reliable estimates for seasonal adjustment factors.

THE LOCAL AREA UNEMPLOYMENT STATISTICS (LAUS) PROGRAM

The Local Area Unemployment Statistics (LAUS) program provides monthly and annual estimates on several labor force concepts including: employment, unemployment, labor force totals, and the employment-population ratio. As mentioned previously, the unemployment data as well as the civilian labor force estimates presented in this publication are from the LAUS program. The unemployment rate is shown for each state in 1990, 2000, and 2010 along with the rank for each state. The rankings are from lowest to highest. In 2010, unemployment ranged from a low of 3.9 percent in North Dakota to 14.9 percent in Nevada. Therefore, North Dakota is ranked first and Nevada is ranked 51st in 2010. Unemployment data are not available by industry.

The concepts and definitions underlying the LAUS program come from the Current Population Survey (CPS), the household survey conducted by the Census Bureau for the BLS. The LAUS models combine current and historical data from the CPS, the CES, and the State Unemployment Insurance (UI) Systems. There are numerous conceptual and technical differences between the household and establishment surveys, and estimates of monthly employment changes from these two surveys usually do not match in size or even direction. As a result, the unemployment data and the civilian labor force estimates on each state header page presented in this edition are not directly comparable to the employment data. However, this publication includes this information to provide complementary information on labor market conditions in each state and the District of Columbia. Monthly and annual data are available from the BLS on their Web site at <http://www.bls.gov/lau/>. More information on the differences between the surveys, as well as guidance on the complex methods used to obtain the LAUS data, is provided on the BLS Web site at <http://www.bls.gov/lau/laufaq.htm>.

PART B

METROPOLITAN STATISTICAL AREA (MSA) DATA

METROPOLITAN STATISTICAL AREA (MSA) NOTES

Part B provides employment data for the 75 largest metropolitan statistical areas (MSAs) and New England city and town areas (NECTAs) in the United States for 1990 and 2000 to 2010. As mentioned in the technical notes, all employment data are for MSAs unless otherwise noted. NECTAs are similar to MSAs but are defined by cities and towns rather than counties in the New England region.

According to the 2010 figures from the Census Bureau, New York-Northern New Jersey-Long Island, NY-NJ-PA, was the largest MSA in the United States with a population of 18,897,109—larger than the population of all but four states. Although it was the biggest MSA, it was not among the fastest growing. Many of the MSAs that experienced rapid growth were in the south and the west. From 2000 to 2010, Las Vegas-Paradise, NV, and Raleigh, NC, grew the most quickly, both increasing by 41.8 percent, followed by Round Rock-San Marcos, TX, which grew at a rate of 37.3 percent. From 2009 to 2010, New Orleans-Metairie-Kenner, LA, experienced a slow down in growth, decreasing by 11.3 percent.

Total nonfarm employment also increased rapidly in the south and west from 1990 to 2010, but slowed considerably between 2000 and 2010. Employment increased 41 percent in Milwaukee-Waukesha-West Allis, WI, and 39.8 percent in McAllen-Edinburg-Mission, TX from 2000 to 2010. Total nonfarm employment nearly tripled in Las Vegas-Paradise, NV, from 1990 to 2010. However, for the third year in a row, total nonfarm employment experienced a decline (-3.0 percent between 2009 and 2010) after increasing an average of 5.5 percent per year from 1990 to 2007.

Employment decreased in the vast majority of MSAs from 2000 to 2010; it declined most significantly in the following areas: Detroit-Warren-Livonia, MI; San Jose-Sunnyvale-Santa Clara, CA; Dayton, OH; Cleveland-Elyria-Mentor, OH; and San Francisco-Oakland-Fremont, CA. Although there has been a steady increase in employment since 1990, last year saw a continued decrease, in part due to the continued economic state of the country. In Detroit, total nonfarm employment decreased by more than 7,900 people from 2009 to 2010.

Similar to the state data, manufacturing employment declined in most MSAs from 1990 to 2010. From 2009 to 2010, every MSAs experienced a decrease in manufacturing employment. Employment in education and health services, professional and business services, and leisure and hospitality grew rapidly in many MSAs from 1990 to 2009, but these figures mostly dropped from last year.

In 2010, unemployment rates increased slightly. Unemployment figures ranged from 5.2 percent in Omaha-Council Bluffs, NE-IA, to a high of 16.8 percent in Fresno, CA. Oklahoma City, OK, and Washington-Arlington-Alexandria, DC-VA-MD-WV, had the lowest unemployment rates at 6.2 and 6.6 percent, respectively, among all MSAs with a population of 1,000,000 or more according to the 2010 unemployment ratings from the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Employment, Hours, and Earnings: States and Areas, 2011

Employment, Hours, and Earnings: States and Areas is a special edition of Bernan Press's Handbook of U.S. Labor Statistics. This edition brings together a wealth of employment data compiled by the Bureau of Labor Statistics and provides estimates on employment, hours, and earnings for each state and the District of Columbia as well as the nation's 75 largest metropolitan statistical areas (MSAs). It is an excellent source of information for analysts in both the public and private sectors.

Features of this publication include:

- Nearly 300 tables with data on employment for each state, the District of Columbia, and the nation's 75 largest MSAs
- Detailed industry data organized by month and by year for 1990 as well as from 2000 to 2010
- An introductory page for each state that summarizes salient data and noteworthy trends and includes a figure for each state on employment by industry
- Concise technical notes that explain the sources of, changes to, and other pertinent facts about the data contained in the volume, as well as reference for further guidance
- An appendix that details the geographical components of the MSAs
